

Find a colourful object.
What is it? What is it used for?

What object would be called the 'noisy object'?

Find an object you have never seen before.
What is it?

If you could touch something in the gallery, what would it be?

Why do you think we cannot touch objects in museums and galleries?

What object do you think would be the most valuable?
Why?

Look at how many women
are featured in the museum and how many men. Are there more of one gender? Discuss why you think this is.

Choose a picture of a person.
How can you tell from the image that they are important? What is the person famous for?

Find the smallest object in the gallery. What is it?

Does this gallery feel old or new? Why?

Are there any objects that confuse you? What is it? Why do you think it's confusing?

Find the collection of badges.
The badges show support for particular issues. What issues can you see displayed?

Which one do you like best?
What issue is it about?

Why do you think people wear badges to show their opinion on certain issues?

What object in the gallery is the oldest? What is it? What year is it from?

Look at the clothing displayed in images and display cases.
What would you like to wear?

Why do you think the gallery has items of clothing on display?

A Curator is a person who collects and arranges important objects in a museum or gallery.

If you were the Curator of this gallery, what would you feature as the most important object?

If you were the Curator, what would you change in the gallery?

What is your favourite object in this gallery? What do you like about it?

What person featured in this gallery do you admire most?
Why?

Use the digital wall to find this person and read about them.

